

AMERICAN HORTICULTURAL SOCIETY'S
16th Annual National Children & Youth Garden Symposium

Growing Fertile Minds and Communities

July 24-26, 2008

Greater Philadelphia Area

Hosted by the Camden Children's Garden, Longwood Gardens, Pennsylvania Horticultural Society, and Winterthur Museum & Country Estate

Poster Session Proposal Form

Deadline for Receipt of Proposals is June 20, 2008

Join educators, garden designers, community leaders, and children's gardening advocates in the Greater Philadelphia Area for the American Horticultural Society's 16th annual National Children & Youth Garden Symposium, Growing Fertile Minds and Communities, hosted by the Camden Children's Garden, Longwood Gardens, the Pennsylvania Horticultural Society, and Winterthur Museum & Country Estate.

Discover various approaches for cultivating fertile minds and communities through innovative programs and gardens based in the Philadelphia area and across the nation. The Symposium's diverse educational offerings include inspiring lectures by nationally recognized keynote speakers, field trips to exemplary gardens, educational sessions led by experts, and a poster session.

Gain insights and valuable resources from peers as the momentum continues to grow, drawing people from across the nation, from various organizations, institutions, and regions to exchange creative ideas for children's and youth gardening programs.

I. Presenter Information

Mr. / Ms. / Mrs. / Other _____	Name
Job Title
Organization
Address
City	State	Zip
This address is: Home _____ Work _____	Fax
Home Phone	Business Phone
E-mail Address
Website(s)

